Week Ending 22nd November 2018

Hey there Bloggers!

Queen of the Fall

In English we have come to the end of our fabulous unit on The Queen of the Falls and wrote a series of diary entries from the point of view of the incredibly brave Annie Edson Taylor. The last few weeks have been really enjoyable and all the children have been truly inspired by this lady's amazing courage.

Multiplications & Division

In Maths we have continued working on multiplication and division, learning about prime, square and cubed numbers and using our new knowledge and skills to help us solve problems. Moving onto multiplying by 10, 100 and 1000 next week!

In History we thoroughly enjoyed the amazing Ancient Egypt workshop led by Carol from History Alive. During the day we had the opportunity to dress as Ancient Egyptians and learn about life in Ancient Egyptian times from the perspective of a scribe, pharaoh and farmer. We discovered how difficult it was for the Egyptians to build the pyramids and just how strong and intelligent they must have been to build them so accurately.
