Daffodil Class Blog

Week Ending 1st April 2021

We have had an absolutely lovely two weeks in Daffodil class!

We are so sad that this term is coming to an end already!

Over the past two weeks, we have continued our 'multiplication and division' maths unit with lots of tricky mathematical concepts. We are doing so well with the word problems and learning about the commutativity between multiplication and division. Miss Graham is so impressed!

In English lessons, we have been learning all about whales and how to protect them. There have been lots of new techniques taught to us during this unit, like similes, exclamation sentences and adverbs of time and place! This has been one of our most favourite units so far in English, we are all so passionate about the environment! 😊

In our topic lessons we have finished our volcanoes and earthquakes unit and are now amazing geographers! We have also finished our art piece in the style of Victoria Potrovitza. So we have now become artists too!

We are thankful to God for giving us such a fantastic two weeks together. We are excited to come back to school again after the Easter break to do even more super learning! 😊
